BILIOUSNESS

"I unhesitatingly add my testimony to the great benefits to be derived from Simmons Liver Regulator. I was afflicted for several years with disordered Liver, which resulted in a severe attack of Jaundice. I had good medical attendance, but it failed to restore me to the enjoyment of my former health. I then tried the most renowned physicians of Lonisville, Ky., but all to no purpose, whereupon I was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator. I found immediate benefit from its use, and it ultimately restored me to the full enjoyment of health."—A. H. PIANOS.

GAINED FIRST PREMIUM FOR GREATEST merit at the New Orleans Cotton Centennial and WORLE'S Exposition for refined and wonderful power of tone, elegance of design, and superb finish. Only piano endorsed by United States commissioners, from each of the States. Cases finest carved, rosewood finish—finest imported double repeating action—three strings throughout of best patent steel wire—keys best ivory. Our new patent steel tuning device, instead of wood, is the greatest invention ever made in pianos. It consists of stationary STEEL tuning pins that are set in a mold and molten STEEL is run round the pins keeping them solidly in place. A thimble or shell pin is made to exactly fit the stationary pin revolving therein; thus the strings wind round the pins. After the strings are properly stretched the piano can never get out of tune, the rest plank being of STEEL not affected by extremes of climate. This will be appreciated by all musicians in city or country. It will stand twenty years without tuning and is good for 100. No other piano has this improvement.

Great strength and durability is another advantage. In other pianos holes are bored in wooden boards and tuning pins inserted. The pins turn round in this board and cannot stand permanently in tune, and it often cracks, splits, drys out, becoming utterly, totally and entirely worthless as a musical instrument. Our STEEL tuning device is in no way affected by such casualities, and the sounding board is so constructed that our pianos can never become thin or metallic in tone. They are always in tune and the expense of tunning is saved. This patent alone is worth millions and makes our piano the greatest in the world. Prices are no higher than other pianos. Buying direct from us, the largest manufacturers, you save $100 or $200—dealers' profits. Don't mind the ominous growlings of dealers and agents, who see their chance of selling a poor pinpo at a big profit of $200—slipping away—pity them.

We guarantee our pianos ten years. 200 styles. We have put our prices at lowest bed-rock for Cash.

A $600 Piano for $259.50; a $900 Piano for $297.50; a $1200 Piano for $375.50; a $1500 Piano for $475.50.

Upright Cabinet Grands, with stool and rubber cover shipped on board cars at S. F., to any part of the United States, Canada or Mexico. Our terms are cash with order. If not as represented money returned. We occassionally have good second-hand pianos, made over at $100 to $300, which we take in part payment for our own. Write or call for catalogue, free.

FLIGHT OF LOCUSTS.

They Eat Up Every Green Thing and Leave the Earth a Desert.

An army of locusts is a wonderful and an interesting sight to the traveler who does not own a yard of soil, and is a mere onlooker at their frightful devastation. It is Attila and his innumerable horses rushing over the vegetable world. To-day the wide plains are shining green with dense foliage; to-morrow nothing but brown twigs and bare branches, when the legions move off on their combined mission. As they arrive, the dense, dark clouds moving up from the horizon, and often obscuring the sun's rays, proclaim the approach of the widely-dreaded scourge. The alarmed villagers congregate on the expected line of march, beating drums and brass pots, shouting and lighting bonfires and making all kinds of hideous noises. On one occasion, in South Africa, I drove off the enemy from a friend's garden by making four heaps of damp rubbish—one at each corner—in preparation, and then, lighting them at the proper moment, we dispersed the advance guard, our columns of thick smoke being carried by the wind upon the main body, which altered its route. Horses and oxen, their heads and nostrils tormented by the clinging limbs of the swarms, were bolting away to the woods, kicking and plunging in their hasty flight. A hissing, crackling sound arose on all sides, the whole air seemed to be occupied by the falling and flying imps of mischief. The "locust birds" (a kind of crane) hovered in small parties on their flanks, and subsisted on a very small percentage of the insect hosts. In desert localities the hungry pests actually pitched on bones, matting, sticks, etc., and failing in a meal attacked and devoured each other. On another occasion I drove for miles along a sandy tract, the wheels of the vehicle crushing myriads of the newly-hatched insects, all crawling and creeping, with migratory instinct, toward the cultivated tracts. In India, locust visits are fewer between, but far more formidable, owing to the overwhelming masses. Sometimes a series of clouds, composed of their flights, cover several miles simultaneously. Fortunately, there are several birds and beasts in quest of their bodies, and I have even seen them salted, dried and sold in the markets. I have often inspected a dish of curried locust, but could not bring a sufficient amount of curiosity to bear on the tasting experiment, though a prawny odor went up with the steam. The fishes are great devourers of these winged visitors, for they fall into lakes and rivers during changes of wind and weather. Besides fires made of green rubbish at top, I found gunpowder explosions very useful in scaring them away from the vicinity of my garden. When several successive hordes alighted on my grass land I loaded my gun with dust shot, and, stooping low on the ground, discharged the contents of both barrels into their midst. Having done so several times I enjoyed the welcome sight of seeing them rising into the air and going elsewhere. I have no doubt a small cannon on such occasions heavily loaded with sharp sand would hasten their flight.—English Mechanic.

BELLES OF BURMAH.

The Dress and Ornaments Worn by the Ladies of the Upper Class.

The dress of the Burmese lady is simple and elegant. They wear the silk loongyee, as the men do, over their lower limbs, and which is simply tucked in at the waist. They wear a finer and thicker silk than the men, of a smaller check pattern. A sleeveless injee, a jacket, close-fitting and worn high at the neck, serves to cover the upper portion of the person. This injee is generally made of fine cloth or velvet, and is ornamented with gold buttons and lace as the taste of the wearer dictates. With young women of position it is indispensable that the bosom be completely covered. Their beautiful long hair is combed back off their foreheads, which are broad and low, bangs not being in fashion there, and deftly twisted in a coil at the back of their shapely little heads, then fastened in its place with elaborately carved, high tortoise-shell combs, aided by pins of the same material or of gold.

They wear a golden nadaing, a necklet, of beautiful workmanship, around their necks, hanging down in two or three rows. Golden padoung, bracelets of massive form and exquisitely chased with figures of beasts, birds, reptiles, etc., real and mythological, adorn their arms and wrists. Anklets of gold and silver are sometimes, but not universally, worn. Their most curious ornaments are, however, their ear jewels. They are made of massive gold and consist of two pieces of tubular shape, fitting closely one into the other, the outer ends being closed with a sort of cap carved in various patterns. The girls' ears have long slits cut in the lobes when they are children about four years of age. The men also have their ears cut in this fashion when of an earlier age. Dainty slippers of soft leather, with pointed toes, and "down at heel," cover their small, bare feet. They are innocent of stockings, and their feet are as carefully attended to as are their hands, the nails of both being carefully pared and trimmed.—Burmah Letter in San Francisco Chronicle.

INDIAN UPRISINGS.

Gail Hamilton Thinks They Are Caused by Irresponsible Whites.

In this country it should be a truism to say that whatever is done for the Indian should be done by the Indian, by his assistance, if not wholly through his agency. He understands his race as another race can not. If Indian affairs were, as far as possible, in the hands of Indians; if the Indian Department were, as far as practicable, composed of Indians, we should have fewer Indian massacres, Indian uprisings, Indian scares. The civilized Indian, backed by the whole power of the United States Government, would be a mighty force, a potent object lesson to the wild Indian. Proof of this is found in the beneficial effects of the employment of Indians by Government as reservation police officers, United States Indian police and Indian scouts. I have the greatest mistrust as to the existence of Indian uprisings. The Indians are perfectly aware of the might of the United States. There is no reasonable doubt they want peace. They fear war more than we do. I believe that these Indian troubles are indeed very largely fomented by the greed of the white race in its lower circles, who are always deliberately designing trouble in order to possess themselves of Naboth's vineyard. When Poor Buffalo informs Bishop Whipple that he is known by almost every Western tribe, and that he is now no more a warrior, but is trying to keep the peace among all his tribes, he is to be believed, and he ought to be used as a medium of peace and good-will. One such "uprising" as that among the Utes, quickly as it was seen through and put to shame, cost the Government more than would the salary of a commission for twenty years. The Creeks, the Choctows, the Five Nations, have so strong an element of civilization that they could be brought to bear upon the wilder tribes with the greatest economy. Poor Buffalo knew Colorow long before we ever heard of him. Peace seems now to be restored, but is any sufficient restitution made to the Indians who have suffered? Is any punishment meted out to the miscreants who in the name of law, and under the color of law, degraded the law of the land in the eyes of the Utes? Is any thing done to deter other miscreants in other places from involving the Government in similar shame and loss? It ought to be understood that any person who brings the word of the Government into disrepute among the Indians is doing the greatest possible harm, is helping to shed blood. The lives of United States soldiers are as sacred as those of any other United States citizens, and to imperil their lives that lawless citizens may get possession of the fair Indian lands is murder in the first degree.—Gail Hamilton, in North American Review.

DEEP-SEA WONDERS.

Some of the Strange Fish That Live at the Bottom of the Ocean.

"What an odd fish!"

An old member of the Maritime Exchange was exhibiting in a bottle one of the queerest submarine monsters that the fancy could paint. It apparently had no beginning and no ending. One could hardly tell where its outlines left off, and the alcohol in which it was preserved began. It was like jelly.

"It must be remembered," explained the owner, "that at the depth of one thousand fathoms the pressure upon a fish or any other body is equal to a ton to a square inch. These flabby looking fishes, that can be tied in a knot at the surface, at such depths are firm-bodied and vigorous. When fish, adapted by organization to these depths, are brought to the surface, frequently their bodies are ruptured, their viscera protude, their eyes start out and they present the appearance of having suffered a frightful death. When the fish ascends and the pressure upon its body becomes less and less, the gasses in its body begins to expand and the expansion causes the demoralized appearance of the fish. If the fish could be popped out of the sea in an instant, it would probably explode with a bang when it reached the surface.

"Just look at its jaws," continued the exhibitor. "When the fish are brought to the surface most of them appear to be soft, pulpy masses. The bones and muscles appear to be feebly developed. The tissues seem thin, weak and easily ruptured. These conditions, implying muscular weakness, are apparently inconsistent with the powerful shape of the jaws and the rapacious looking teeth of some of the predacious fishes."

"How do they live?"

"That is hard to say. To the absence of light is due many of the most wonderful peculiarities of the deep-sea fish. Some of them are totally blind, having no eyes at all or mere rudimentary eyes. Others have huge eyes, so organized as to collect as many light rays as possible. Sunlight, it is said, does not penetrate to a depth of two hundred fathoms. If there is any light there at all it is the merest glimmer and below that depth there is absolute darkness.

"Now these deep-sea fishes being cut off altogether from the sunlight, many of them furnish their own light. They have no organized gas companies, but each furnishes his own light—carries a lantern or torch around with him. They have organs that emit a phosphorescent gleam and shed light on their path. Some of them carry little torches in the form of tentacles that rise from the tops of the heads. Many of them have regular symmetrical rows of luminous spots on their sides."—N. Y. Mail and Express.

THE AGE OF OVERWORK.

Insanity on the Increase—Wrecked Nervous Organisms—A Doctor's Warning.

I urge that, to be successful, our life work must be done with our own special aim and ambition. But when I pick up an essay that advises more ambition, and more toil, I say the writer is an idiot. The age is now overworked. We need less work, but we need it wisely directed. Bailey, in Festus, is often aprovingly quoted:

I know what study is—it is to toil
Hard through the hours of the midnight watch;
Wring a slight sleep out of the couch; and see
The self same moon, which lit us to our rest,
Her place scarce changed, perceptibly in heaven,
Now light us to renewal of our toil.

This is worse than trash; it is false, exaggerated and misleading. There is no lack of work; but fully nine-tenths of work is wasted. It is folly to point me to the great painters, great musicians and great of all sorts, and to their indefatigable toil. They all worked to a specific end, and that was their life work.

I am out of all patience with finely worded essays that urge young men to more work. We are now overworked and are working ourselves out of all reason. Insanity is on the increase. Cerebral troubles are our most serious ills. Our finely built nervous organisms are being wrecked. "The successful banker must take his bank to bed with him," was the remark of a celebrated New York financier. He must do nothing of the kind. Our worst possible bed fellows are our daily cares. We must know how to work to a point and how to stop at a point. The lines quoted from Festus describe a process of committing suicide, a method of reaching intellectual confusion and weakness. This worries me more than anything else, that young people should be advised to work at night, and be encouraged to "burn the midnight oil." I say to them, sleep. If you once form a habit of crowding sleep you will find your strength departing. Vigor lies in your power to recuperate.

There is no compensation for a habit of sleeplessness. More good work can be done in one hour after a sound night's rest than in ten hours when one should be asleep. "I can do nothing," said Grant, "without eight hours' sleep." James Fields said late in life, "If I were a boy again, I would keep better hours; that is, I would go to bed earlier than most boys do. Nothing gives more mental and bodily vigor than sound rest when properly applied. If we sit up late we decay; and sooner or later we contract insomnia. Late hours are shadows of the grave." I do not press this point because I inherit a Puritan prejudice, but have a physician's conviction, founded on wide experience. If you are ambitious to do a true, stout, manly work, apply your energies all along the line of the years in one direction, or in few directions, and never crowd the brain to undue exertion when it is weary.—M. Maurice, M. D., in Globe-Democrat.

Invented by a Woman.

There are many instances where women have "invented" articles for convenience and of practical usefulness, for which a patent has never been applied, though not the less patentable or appreciated, as the following instance, which shows not only the ability but the genius with which she is by nature endowed. The article was devised (?) by a woman in Connecticut, the fatherland of inventive genius and Yankee ingenuity, the land of steady habits, wooden clocks, wooden nutmegs and red oak hams. The lady was one day using the carving knife, which probably, from too frequent contact with bones and the stovepipe, which a woman generally uses for a steel, with uncertain results, had become rather dull, and the handle of which, in her frantic efforts to "carve dat possum," twisted about and hurt her delicate digits.

At last, after several desperate and hazardous attempts, she turned sharply to her better half, who sat by calmly viewing the situation, and probably reflecting on the chances of life and death and the prospect of a square meal, and asked: "Can't you invent a handle that won't twist about and hurt so?" With fear and trembling lest his answer should cause his irate spouse to scalp him on the spot, the good man answered that he could not. "Well I can," was the reply, and with the impetuosity proverbial of her sex she left the room and soon returned with a triumphant air and a piece of putty, which she soon had shaped to fit her hand, and, holding it up to the admiring, though crestfallen, lord, said: "There, that's what I call a handle." Although no patent has ever been applied for, these handles, invented by a woman, are in great demand, and thousands are annually made.—Boston Budget.

Colored Citizens' Excursion.

With the running of the first excursion train in the spring the old nomadic instinct awakes in the bosom of the colored citizens. They must go somewhere. The destination is of little moment, the journey is everything. To the pine woods of Mississippi, among the villages of the Gulf coast, even to the penitentiary at Baton Rouge, they swarm upon the regular excursion days. No matter how sultry the weather, they pack into the cars, an indiscriminate mass of shouting men, struggling women and shrieking babies; and, wherever their journey may terminate, they are allowed for that day almost exclusive possession of the town. Evening comes. The whistle sounds, and all who purpose returning crowd upon the train. Few, however, are the parties of excursionists who do not leave some of their number in durance, souvenirs to the town which they have visited of an exciting day.—Cor. New York Post.

The Journalist's Profession.

A famous editor said: "I was first a college graduate, then a reporter, and then an editor; but I ought to have been able to stop after I had been two years in the office and gone back to study international law, history and languages; it would have been worth a large capital to me. A man does not find out what he needs to know until he has been at actual work in journalism for a year or two." Probably no profession at the present time requires a greater combination of native tact, with intense application and wide culture.—M. Maurice, M. D., in Globe-Democrat.

Communications upon matters of local or general interest solicited.

THE HOME PAPER.

As a general thing the local journal is appreciated by all fair-minded people of the community in which it is published. They see in it their champion and stand-by and look to it for protection, and all things being equal they give it the preference in so far as their patronage is concerned. They know that the money spent with the local journal for subscriptions, advertising and job work finds it way back, every cent of it, into the pockets of the local tradesman, mechanic or laboring man. They know, too, that money sent abroad for work that can be performed in the home printing office is just so much money taken out of town to help build up another community. They know, also, that in giving the local journal the preference when they desire work performed that they are helping to sustain an enterprise in their midst which no progressive or intelligent person in these days of enlightenment can well dispense with. But there are always a few in every community—and it is well they are a very "small few," too, else country newspapers would be few and far between—who through lack of public spirit and non-appreciation, send abroad for printing that can be done as well and as cheap at home. Such are usually the very first ones to seek gratuitous favors from their home paper. When anything is to be got for nothing the local journal is in demand by all such, but if a charge is exacted the "horse is of another color." We are led to these reflections from the fact that on several occasions within the past two years job printing has been sent out of this town to San Francisco for which the general public has had to foot the bills, and as nine-tenths of the people of Sonoma Valley patronize this office individually we know whereof we speak when we say that the public do not approve of such a short-sighted policy on the part of a few who do not pause to consider the necessity of a local paper in their midst.

PROSPERITY AT HAND.

THE present year gives promise of being a most auspicious one for Sonoma in particular and the valley in general. The improvements that are going on and are contemplated will give remunerative employment to every mechanic and laboring man in the valley, who desires work, for months to come. The grape crop, one of the principal products of our valley, never looked more promising at this season of the year, and as all fear of frost is now passed a splendid yield is assured of both wine and table grapes. The same may be said of fruits of all kinds. Our stone quarries, too, are booming, and basalt blocks are bringing a higher price this year than ever before, and in consequence the wages of block-makers have been increased at least 40 per cent. Taking it all in all the people of Sonoma Valley have cause to rejoice over the prosperous times that are now at hand. There are some, of course, who will continue to croak. Such, however, are chronics who will tell of the prosperous times that have been but are never overtaken.

SONOMA VALLEY GOING AHEAD.

Never before in the history of Sonoma Valley has the spirit of improvement manifested itself in so practical a manner as at present. Two new lines of railroad are being built, new towns are springing into existence, a system of water works is being constructed, new wagon roads are being made and bridges built. In addition to these improvements, which are under full headway, many more are contemplated and—the end is not yet.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, May 11th, 1888.

Nothing very startling or very new has occurred on Capitol Hill since I last wrote you. There is no lack of interesting work going on all the time, for the all-important tariff debate goes on in the House day and night, the great River and Harbor bill has passed that body by a large majority, the Senate has been discussing the Land Forfeiture bill and the bill for the establishment of a Bureau of Animal Industry, has ratified the Chinese Treaty, and is preparing to consider the Fisheries Treaty, but there has been no personal encounter in either end of the Capitol during the week.

Since his famous episode with Senator Ingalls, Senator Voorhees has been terribly afflicted with a carbuncle and has been confined to his bed in consequence. He was able to be in his seat on Tuesday, however, when he arose and made a manly apology to the Senate for having allowed his temper to overcome his judgment under exasperating provocation, he having used language that was contrary to the rules and decorum of the body of which he is a member. He said that he regretted having used unparliamentary language and his high respect for the dignity of the United States Senate as well as self-respect induced him to say so.

His transgression of the rules of the (so called) most dignified legislative body in the world was thus atoned for, with no sacrifice of principle or self-respect, and no doubt the Indiana Senator will stand all the better before the country for his handsome acknowledgment. Mr. Voorhees has so long and invariably borne himself with marked dignity in the Senate that it is but natural he should regret his recent departure from his own strict rule of conduct and make due apology for its violation.

A new defalcation has just come to light. The First Comptroller of the Treasury has been overhauling the accounts of General James W. Ewing, the appointment and disbursing clerk of the Department of Justice, and, it is claimed, has discovered a shortage of over $9,000. The Attorney General ordered an investigation, General Ewing was removed and his successor appointed, but it will take several weeks to carefully investigate the accounts.

Gen. Ewing is an ex-Union soldier with a good record, appointed from West Virginia about six years ago. He says the discrepancies are caused by the Comptroller disallowing accounts of money paid out by order of the Attorney General, and the charging of requisitions against him which he has not received.

The Texas Senators have been making arguments against the Pleuro-Pneumonia bill as unconstitutional and inexpedient, and in the interest of the Chicago cattle syndicate.

The River and Harbor bill received its chief support from New York, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, California and the South. New England cast nine votes for and nine against it. There were no votes for the bill from Rhode Island, Vermont, New Jersey, Nebraska, Iowa, Colorado or Kansas. There were no votes against it from New Hampshire, Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Michigan, Kentucky, Minnesota, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Oregon, California, or Nevada. Pennsylvania gave eight votes in favor of the measure and twelve in the negative.

There is little foundation for the reports to the effect that the confirmation of Mr. Fuller as Chief Justice of the United States is opposed by Senators of both parties. Some Democratic Senators friendly to Senator Gray are said to resent the nomination of Mr. Fuller and wish to delay confirmation simply because Senator Gray was not the chosen man. Republican Senators are said to be looking up Fuller's record during the war, and are inclined to object to what they term extreme and dangerous State's rights views. In reality the opposition is not of such a character as to seriously delay his confirmation. As he himself said "the Senate is right to be slow and careful in regard to such matters."

"Inasmuch as the petitioners are also asking for a franchise from the city of Santa Rosa for so much of said proposed railroad as is within said city, and inasmuch as the scheme depends for its consummation on the action of the City Council of said city, now therefore be it. Resolved, That when the petitioners shall have obtained a franchise from said city for their proposed railway within said city, then this Board will also grant a franchise for so much of their proposed railway as lies without the limits of said city on the same terms and conditions that shall be prescribed by the City Council of Santa Rosa for so much of said railway as is within said city. Provided, that said petitioners shall cause a strip of land ten feet in width to be added to the east side of Petaluma avenue, so that the center line of said railway shall be the center of said road and five feet east to the present center line of said road.

At 11:20 the Board adjourned to meet on Monday, June 4th at 10:30 A. M.

Fraudulent French Brandies.

We have the authority of the National Druggist, based upon the reports of the British consulate service, for the assertion that French brandy, warranted pure and labeled with any brand, of any desirable age, bouquet, etc., is manufactured in vast quantities at La Rochelle, the materials being German potato spirit (Kartoffel-Branntwein) and flavoring essences from various sources. The amount of this stuff that is exported to America, England and the colonies of the latter, is said to be something enormous. It is strange that the French government, usually so punctilious, does not take some action in regard to the matter, especially since attention has been drawn to it so publicly and officially. It seems to us that the facts here stated, along with the well-known falsifications of French wines should furnish the American Congress with the excellent basis for a bill of a retaliatory nature, which would either open France to American products now virtually excluded from that country (pork, for instance), or would shut out the vile poisons which France is sending to us in such enormous quantities.—Merchant.

The traveling public praise the Occidental Hotel, R. D. Moore proprietor

THE fearful accident that happened to John King of Cloverdale, one day last week, ought to be a warning to those who are guilty of the reprehensible practice of killing fish with explosives. While engaged in his unlawful occupation in Russian river a stick of giant powder exploded in his hand, tearing away his left hand, blowing out his left eye and cutting and bruising him in a shocking manner about the chest and body.

How Men Die.

If we know all the methods of approach adopted by an enemy we are the better enabled to ward off the danger and postpone the moment when surrender becomes inevitable. In many instances the inherent strength of the body suffices to enable it to oppose the tendency toward death. Many however have lost these forces to such an extent that there is little or no help. In other cases a little aid to the weakened Lungs will make all the difference between sudden death and many years of useful life. Upon the first symptoms of a Cough, Cold or any trouble of the Throat or Lungs' give that old and well-known remedy, Boschee's German Syrup' a careful trial. It will prove what thousands say of it to be, the "benefactor of any home."

In the matter of the application of ISAAC LIEBES and CHARLES J. BEHLOW to perpetuate testimony.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT in pursuance of an order made by the Judge of the above-named Superior Court on the tenth day of May, 1888, authorizing and allowing the same, the testimony of Mrs. Anna M. A WOMAN'S WAY.

A Startling Business Proposition.

A little over six weeks ago Mrs. Fowler of 327 Ellis street, San Francisco, stopped in at a leading city druggist's to ask what effect Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, about which she had heard so much recently, would have in cases of dyspepsia and sick headache. She was assured that in most cases it would relieve both. She was, however, so incredulous that finally the druggist gave her a bottle, not to be paid for unless it effected a cure. A proposition so startlingly practical has seldom, if ever before, been made. The following just received is the convincing conclusion, and tells its own story:

San Francisco, February 8, 1888.

DEAR SIR:—I write to admit that, notwithstanding my misgivings, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla did all that you promised. I had tried so many prescriptions, to no purpose, that I had come to believe nothing would relieve my dyspepsia and sick headaches, but I have not had a return of either since I commenced taking it. I believe I am permanently cured, but will, out of an abundance of caution, continue to take it regularly for a while yet. You have my permission to make this public, for it is my belief that a remedy that will cure dyspepsia and prevent sick headaches should be generally known. Respectfully,

Mrs. M. Fowler,
327 Ellis street.

A LUCKY TRIAL.

DEAR SIR: It affords me great pleasure to send you this voluntary statement of my experience in testing the merits of Joy's Sarsaparilla. For the past five years I have been troubled with an exceedingly sluggish liver, and within the past two years it has brought within its trail a thoroughly disordered stomach, including loss of appetite and distress after eating, pains in the back and kidneys, and boils around my neck and face. I have tried several remedies which are advertised as specially for the liver, and never could get more than temporary relief of about a week or two. I was recommended to try a bottle of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla as a test, and while taking the first bottle I became convinced of its merits for I could feel it was working a change in me. I have taken five bottles, and during that time my troubles have left me. Everything is working full and regular, in fact it has cleansed, purified and braced me up generally. I feel like a new man. You are at perfect liberty to use this as you see fit, or you can refer whom you please to SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak and watery; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a "nasal twang"; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "Cold in the Head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache.

Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 202 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

A complete Treatise on Catarrh, giving valuable hints as to clothing, diet, and other matters of importance, will be mailed, postpaid to any address, on receipt of a two-cent postage stamp. Address,

An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged to raise a fund to be sent to San Francisco to help defray the expenses of the National Teachers' Association to be held in that city July 17th. Miss Frese, principal of the school, has the entire affair in charge.

A fine large deer was seen on J. Fridiger's mountain ranch a few miles north of town on Thursday of last week. The fleet-footed animal was pursued by a number of dogs and in its mad flight it bounded across the new wagon road being constructed on the place and came near running over Geo. Tate, who was at work on the road. Mr. Fridiger, who was near by and witnessed the scene, says that had not Tate, jumped to one side as the deer bounded from the brush into the road it would have certainly run over him. As it was, it passed uncomfortably near to the young man and made each individual hair on his head stand on end.

Base Ball.

An interesting exhibition of the National game was given last Sunday afternoon at the Sonoma polo grounds. The rival clubs competing for the championship of Sonoma, Glen Ellen, Verano, Schellville and Embarcadero were the Terries and the Cheyennes, captained respectively by J. B. Small and A. B. Carriger. The regular captain of the Terries having fallen from a horse only a few days before, discoloring his dexter optic, took no part in the game. Capt. Brown (who bought a horse) acted as umpire and Capt. R. A. Peppe official scorer. Time of game, half a day, three minutes and nine seconds. It will be noticed the error column is quite large but that was due to a want of practice by both nines. After a closely contested game the Cheyennes won. This club is now considering a proposition to challenge the Haverlys for the championship of California. The score was as follows:

Handsome Church.

St. Francis' Church has recently been greatly beautified by the addition of seven costly stained glass windows, a gift from Mrs. Robt. Johnson of Buena Vista farm. These windows add much to the appearance of this church, which is truly an imposing structure and an ornament to our city. The interior presents a beautiful sight, with its tinted walls and ceilings, three handsome altars, fine statuary, lovely paintings, chandeliers and neat pews. The exterior of the church is in keeping with the interior. It is painted a pure white and its tall steeple can be seen miles away. Shade and ornamental trees surround the edifice and give it an inviting appearance. The choir is composed of our best singers, and St. Francis' Church numbers among its congregation some of our most wealthy and influential people. Rev. Father Sullivan is the officiating clergyman and is dearly beloved by his entire congregation.

The Texas Umbrella Tree.

There has been on exhibition in this office the past week a branch cut from a Texas umbrella tree twenty feet high and growing on Mr. John Harper's farm two miles south of this city. This tree is supposed to be the only one of its kind in Sonoma county. It is one of the most beautiful shade and ornamental trees we have ever seen. These trees are extensively propagated in Fresno, elm avenue in that city, eight miles long, being planted on both sides with them. Robt. Poppe, during his recent visit to Fresno, brought home a quantity of seeds of the tree and next Spring will procure a large supply for free distribution.

Sad Case of Insanity.

A. Phelps of Santa Rosa, twenty years of age, and well-known in this valley, passed through here in charge of Deputy Sheriff Breitenbach last Sunday en route to the Napa Insane Asylum. The unfortunate young man's mania consists in imagining that he had been robbed of several hundred dollars by a mounted highwayman, and while on his way to the asylum every man seen on horseback was accused by him of being the robber. Upon arriving at the asylum he seemed to realize his situation and begged piteously to be released. He had been an inmate of the institution before.

Death of Mrs. Jacobine Johannsen.

This community was greatly shocked yesterday morning at the announcement of the death of Mrs. Jacobine Johannsen, for many years a resident of this valley. The deceased lady was the wife of L. M. Johannsen, and was highly respected and greatly beloved by a large circle of relatives, friends and acquaintances. She was a genial, charitable and kind-hearted lady and her death creates a void in this community which will be keenly felt. The funeral of Mrs. Johannsen will take place to-morrow at 1 P. M., from her late residence on the Napa road.

Insane from Overstudy.

Miss Mamie Hoskins, aged 17 years, a member of the San Francisco High School, has been adjudged insane and sent to Napa. She is a resident of Bloomfield and a niece of Robert Gordon of that place and of John Cunningham, living near Sebastopol. Several months ago her memory began to give away under excessive study, but being inordinately ambitious, she would not leave her books. She grew worse and was confined in a private asylum in San Francisco, but in vain. She is constantly troubled over some vexatious problem, or else reciting something that she has committed to memory.—Democrat.

City Assessor Breitenbach is busy making out the assessment of taxpayers within the municipality.

A Land-Locked Mariner Ventilates Himself.

Mr. Editor: I am still here. I am much taken with this place on account of the extent to which morals rage in this community. For example, vice and forgery is confined to a small scope of territory on the eastern shore of Sonoma creek, where is located the only blacksmith shop in town. We have no jail, no chain-gang, our police is seldom obliged to air their uniforms, no minister, no church and no schools. I was told by a landsman the other day that in former times that schooners came up from the bay to unload at this place. The bulk of the unloading of schooners (of beer) is now done on shore. This village in the minds of the knowing ones has a protracted future before it. At the present writing we have one and a half railroads. One runs through the heart of the town as far as its suburbs, the other is on the star board flank of the eastern addition, its destination a conundrum. I will keep you posted in the event of any additional railroads coming this way. More anon.

New Jail.

The Santa Rosa Republican says: Friday the Board of Supervisors passed an order authorizing the Clerk to advertise for three weeks according to law the intention of the Board to purchase for public use the lot on the corner of Third street and Hinton avenue of A. B. Ware for $10,250. The purposes of the purchase are to secure land upon which to erect a county jail. The situation of the jail at present proving very damaging to the remainder of the court house building on account of the offensive odors necessarily arising from such an institution and the demand for a larger room for the Hall of Records have caused the Board to take this action. It is the intention to tear out the old jail and fit up an office there for the County Recorder. The Board has been considering the proposition for some time, and with $160,000 in the treasury can afford to erect a substantial building.

Newspapers.

The old adage, "Show me your company and I'll tell you what you are," might be so varied as to read, "Show me your newspapers and I'll tell you in what kind of a community you live."

The universal law of demand and supply governs the quality as well as the number of newspapers. If a newspaper is feeble or ruffianly in editorial tone, sensational in its news or coarse in its drollery, its continued existence betokens that the community not only supports but craves vulgarity and applauds it.

Newspapers must have support in whatever character they assume or they cannot maintain the character, and the existence of a paper of any character or of characterless papers, is indicative of corresponding clientages, just as the continued existence of a party paper indicates the existence of a party at its back.

Whenever people mourn the publication of an immoral paper or the lack of force and ability in the papers of their town, which weak or illiberal people are very apt to do, the intelligent hearer is very certain to conclude that the town really desires and desires no better and would not appreciate it or it would exist, as the only thing to do to exterminate poor or bad papers is to cease to support them, and the only thing necessary to secure a good paper is to properly appreciate it.—Exchange.

Is Consumption Incurable.

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made." Jessie Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. The election of Trustees of the Dunbar School District will take place the first Saturday in June.

Some of the planks on the bridge at this place are worn through and should be replaced as soon as possible.

Judge Pressley and Barclay Henley of Santa Rosa and E. S. Lippit of Petaluma were in town last Saturday.

The I X L candy store has changed hands, Mr. Small disposing of the same to Mr. Humphries of Bridgeport, Solano county.

We had the pleasure last week of visiting the new Postoffice and found it complete in all its arrangements and in fact as nice an office as may be found north of the Bay.

Last Saturday morning the roof over the stare of C. O. Borman caught fire from a spark, nearly causing a serious conflagration. However, aid was near at hand and the fire was extinguished with little difficulty.

For the benefit and amusement of the many readers of the Index-Tribune I herewith send the following enigma. Don't all speak at once: I am composed of 29 letters. My 1, 10, 24, 25, is always found on a ship. My 28, 18, 15, is something without which we could not exist. My 22, 7, 8, 20, is the name of a flower. My 21, 2, 11, 20, is the name of a prominent resident of Glen Ellen. My 16, 17, 24, 11, 13, 20, is the name of a fruit. My whole is something which all residents of Sonoma Valley may well be proud of. Old Timer.

A New Cannery.

A stock company is being organized for the purpose of building and operating a new cannery at the head of Second street, adjoining the new railroad. The capital stock will be $20,000 and the majority of the shares have already been taken, so it is said. The location in point of transportation facilities is good and it will not be difficult of access for those having fruit to dispose of. The building is to be of brick, two-stories in height and of sufficient capacity to meet the growing demands of the fruit industry.—S. R. Democrat.

That Highway of Nations,

The broad Atlantic, is ever a storms thoroughfare. You blow the winds ever so fiercely, and ride the waves ever so loftily, seamen must man the good ships, tourists will brave the passage, and commercial travelers and buyers must visit the centres of foreign trade and manufacture. That atrocious malady, sea-sickness, together with colicky pains and much inward uneasiness is often endured when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters would have fortified the voyagers against them. Sea captains, and in fact all salts and veteran travelers are acquainted with the protective value of this estimable preventive and remedy, and are rarely unprovided with it. Emigrants to the far West should use it as a safeguard against Malaria. Seek the aid of the Bitters for dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, kidney troubles, and all ailments that impair the harmonious and vigorous action of the vital powers.

LOVE'S WAYS.

Two paths hath Love for entering lovers' feet.
And one is broad and fair and very sweet,
And every grace of song and flower hath;
The other is a straight and narrow path,
Where stones and brambles choke the bitter way,
And songs it hath, but never one is gay,
And some who enter are with roses bound,
And some with thorns, but none may go uncrowned;
And yet both ways are thronged with eager feet,
And voices, gay and sad, chant—Love is sweet.
—Henrietta Christian Wright in Scribner's Magazine.

Geological Architecture.

A curious effect of the wear and tear to which the earth's crust is ever being subjected is exhibited in the singularly capped pinnacles existing on the South river, in the Wahsatch mountains. There are hundreds of these slender pillars, ranging in height from 40 to 400 feet, most of them crowned by large caps of stone. They are not works of human art, as might almost be imagined, but are the memorial monuments of the once rounded hills, from which they have been cut by the action of air and water. These pinnacles alone remain of some square miles of solid rock, which has been washed away to a depth of 400 feet. The greater hardness of the surface has caused it to resist corrosion more than the underlying rock, thus leaving the huge stone caps perched high in air on the points of the thin columns. At one point, while this carving process has been going on, a thin wall of rock was penetrated, leaving a lofty natural bridge or arch, which adds to the picturesqueness of a remarkable landscape.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Don't Believe in "Patent Medicines."

There is not, so far as I know, a proprietary medicine in the market which begins to be worth the money that is asked for it. The poor man can spend his half dollar to far better advantage by going into any drug shop and asking the clerk what he had better do. At least he will not have to pay for advertising in every newspaper in the country. When he buys a bottle of patent medicine for $1 he pays ten cents for the medicine, the bottle and colored wrapper, and ninety cents for the advertising. He can get his ten cents' worth of medicine directly from the drug clerk. The competent physician who makes a discovery does not patent it, for such a proceeding would be against the ethics of the profession. — Professor Chandler in New York Post.

The Editorial Stiff Neck.

The editor of this paper is afflicted with a stiff neck. The doctor has gravely pronounced it muscular rheumatism. It must be very muscular—possibly of the John L. Sullivan species—as it has the aforesaid editor down, and so far as there are any inferences to be drawn from the storm signals it intends to keep him down until the soft zephyrs of the gentle spring release the rippling rills from their icy fetters and young onions come again. Our peculiar malady, however, is not without its bright side. It has given us a dignified carriage and coquettish style of carrying our head on one side that our most intimate friends say lends us a piquancy of manner that is quite irresistible.—Athens (O.) Journal.

Wasteful Methods of Burning Coal.

An interesting calculation has been lately made by Professor Rogers, of Washington. He tells us that the dynamic power of a single pound of good steam coal is equivalent to the work of a man for one day; three tons of the same coal will represent a man's labor for twenty years; and one square mile of a seam of coal having a depth of four feet only will represent as much work as 1,000,000 men can perform in twenty years. Such calculations as these may serve to remind us how very wasteful our methods of burning fuel must be, in spite of all that has been done by engineers in the way of economy.—Chambers' Journal.

An Exclusive Boston Club.

The most rigidly exclusive club in Boston is the Manuscript club. It has no club house, but meets at the houses of three members, who are not only something in society, but more in amateur musical talent. Not literary manuscript, but musical manuscript is what the club revels in, and nothing that is common enough to have appeared in print is ever performed in the club. The members, fifty in number, are all amateur musicians of local celebrity, and besides their own work they have at their homes the best of the professional artists in Boston, who join them in interpreting musical manuscript of all kinds.—Chicago Times.

Found in the Shell Mounds.

In Florida and Georgia are vast shell mounds, which are the refuse of the feasts of prehistoric races. In them are found numerous implements, bones and skulls. A microscopical examination of the teeth in the skulls has recently been made and Mr. Charles White has reported to the English odontological society the finding of traces of vegetable, fruit, feathers, scraps of wool, and bits of cartilage. Evidently food was largely partaken of in the raw state and torn in pieces with fingers and teeth. Dr. Brinton insists that we have no right to call these fellows men, but anthropoids that is, men like animals.—Chicago News.

Steel and Cast Iron.

A series of experiments recently made by a French metallurgist are stated to have proved that steel loses weight by rust about twice as rapidly as cast iron when exposed to moist air. Acidulated water was found to dissolve cast iron much more rapidly than steel. This would indicate that steel bridges are less affected by the acids contained in the smoke of locomotives than iron ones.—Boston Budget.

A Recent Invention.

An instrument called the autographometer has lately been devised, which autographically records the plan of the ground over which it is dragged. It can be carried about on a light vehicle, and when in use indicates the topography and differences of level of all places over which it passes.—Globe-Democrat.
